How “Right to Work” Laws Affect Signatory Employers

Various states have Right to Work (RTW) laws, which prohibit requiring union membership as a condition of employment. However, a company that is signatory to the SAG-AFTRA TV or Audio Recorded Commercials Contracts must adhere to all the terms of those agreements and pay union rates wherever a principal performer is employed. With respect to Extra performers, certain areas of the country are excluded from all the requirements and provisions of the Commercials Contract. See page 1-5 for more details.

Regardless of the state of employment of principal performers, when hiring in designated Preference Zone, a signatory must give preference to union members or to qualified professional performers in the RTW states.

PLEASE NOTE:

1. When hiring in a Preference Zone in any state, the signatory employer must give preference to qualified non-professional performers. See Schedule B.II ‘Professional Recognition-Preference of Employment-Principal Performers’ on page 104 of the SAG-AFTRA 2013 Commercials Contracts.
2. In non-RTW states, a “qualified professional performer” usually equates to “union member.” In RTW states, qualified professionals performers are persons who have had previous employment under the Commercials Contract. These persons are not required to belong to or join the union.
3. In any state outside one of the union’s Preference Zones, the employer may hire a performer regardless of their status as a union member without risking a Preference fine. However, in a non-RTW state, if the employer engages a “must join” (a person who has had prior employment under the Contract, but has not yet joined the union or a union member who is not in good standing), the employer will be subject to a Union Security fine.
4. The employer must report the first employment of a non-union performer to the union within 15 days of the session, under Schedule B.I.d ‘Union Security-Principal Performers’ on page 104 of the SAG-AFTRA 2013 Commercials Contract.
